Round-table: Is it possible to teach across subjects?

Nowadays, boundaries among subjects are blurring. Values attached to teamwork, personal competencies and social responsibility become centre stage in education too, since they require the implication of the whole citizenship. In this sense, Europe defines itself as the appropriate space to enhance the collaboration and exchange of new education approaches that contemplate a changing reality.

This seminar aims to be a materialization of such space in which schools around Europe, faculties of Education and our future teachers will be able to learn and debate on such matters.
